

There is an opening for a graduate student in Raikh group, with the research focus on spin physics in organic and inorganic compounds. The specific details will depend on the qualifications of a successful applicant. RA support is possible depending on the shown progress with research.